Keiser University Massage Therapy Students Show Support for Autism Student Clinic Open to the Community for Discount Services and Stress Relief

Orlando, Florida—June 5, 2008— On Saturday, May 24, Keiser University's Orlando campus Massage Therapy students and faculty showed their support and demonstrated their skills at the Autism Society of Greater Orlando's 5K walk. The event began at 9 a.m. at the Orange County Convention Center and continued until the last person was massaged at 1 p.m.

Massage services were provided for participants of the walk, supporters, and event organizers. This was the Autism Society's 3rd annual event and the second consecutive year Keiser University massage therapy students contributed. The students and instructors had a great experience honing their skills while supporting a worthy cause.

Massage therapy student Beth Householder exclaimed, "This is awesome, I hope I can come back to give back next year."

There were 15 massage students working on seven massage tables to accommodate everyone that wanted to receive a massage. At the end of the event, the Autism Society staff members asked for massages as well, and the students were excited to oblige.

"The Autism Society of Greater Orlando does phenomenal work supporting those with autism and their caregivers and at Keiser University we consider our involvement to be a privilege," stated Dr. David Hubbard, campus president.

The massage therapy program contributes to many charitable organizations providing students valuable experience in their chosen profession and opportunities in responsible community service.

Members of the community can enjoy a massage from an "up and coming" professional massage therapist at Keiser University's relaxing and rejuvenating student clinic. Invigorating, hour-long, Swedish massages are available by appointment, for just $25.00 Monday through Thursday and Saturdays. The campus is located at 5600 Lake Underhill Road in Orlando.
