Ivery earns golf degree from Keiser

Keiser University College of Golf recently honored Judy Ivery of Sebastian, who completed the two-year associate of science degree in golf management program. Ivery received a commemorative pin during a brief ceremony at the school.

Ivery received the honor for completion of the required 69 credit hours that included golf club fitting and repair, retail management, tournament operations, golf course design and maintenance, golf history and many other aspects of the game and course management.

Keiser University's associate of science degree in golf management prepares students for a variety of positions in the golf industry. In this program, students are prepared to provide golf instruction, manage golf course operations, ensure appropriate maintenance of golf facilities and equipment, as well as integrate the play of golf into the broader hospitality and recreation domain.
