Holds PGA Pro Clinic for High School Girls Team

Keiser University College of Golf welcomed the Harmony High School girls golf team for a special golf clinic led by PGA Professionals.

PORT ST. LUCIE, Fla. — Keiser University College of Golf & Sport Management (COGSM) recently welcomed the girls golf team of Harmony High School of St. Cloud, Fla., for a special golf clinic, led by PGA Professionals.

During the event, the Harmony team focused on pre-swing fundamentals and short game, which included basic chipping and putting. Each team member also received a personal swing analysis and full swing advice, and they enjoyed a fun, long drive competition held on the indoor golf simulator. The clinic was hosted by PGA Professionals John Callahan, Frank Longabucco, and David Wixson.

“We welcome every opportunity to inspire and educate the youth within our community about the game of golf, so it was a real pleasure to have the Harmony High School girls golf team visit our campus,” says John McMurry, Campus Vice President of Keiser University College of Golf & Sport Management.

The current Keiser University COGSM campus features a 20,000-square-foot facility which includes a 1,500-square-foot indoor putting green, advanced launch monitor technology, an interactive golf simulator powered by Sports Coach Systems, TaylorMade MAT-T swing analysis system, and a golf club repair lab equipped by Mitchell Golf Equipment. Students also receive access to the highly acclaimed PGA Center for Golf Learning and Performance where they can practice on a 35-acre lighted practice range, short game areas, bunker facility and extensive putting greens. In addition, Keiser University College of Golf & Sport Management gives students access to several PGA Master Professionals, such as Brian Hughes and Dr. Eric Wilson, as well as Golf Magazine top 100 teacher Dr. T.J. Tomasi.

The Keiser University COGSM degree in Golf Management prepares students for a wide variety of positions in the golf industry. The program gives students the educational background and training to provide golf instruction, manage golf course operations, ensure proper maintenance of golf facilities and equipment, as well as how to incorporate the play of golf into the broader hospitality and recreation domain. Keiser University COGSM's Bachelor of Science in Sport Management degree (with a concentration in golf management) focuses on the managerial and business aspects of a career in golf. The curriculum supports an expanded professional role of sports managers and graduates of associate degree programs in golf, hospitality, fitness, sports, recreation and other related fields.
