Keiser University Announces a New Bachelor's Degree Program
The Interdisciplinary Studies program assists those with varied career interests

Fort Lauderdale, FL – Jan. 6 – As the economic downturn increases the demand for bachelor's degree level employees, Keiser University established a Bachelor of Science in Interdisciplinary Studies for those looking to increase their competitive edge.

"This degree program is unique and truly designed for the student who has credits to transfer in or students that have a variety of career interests that cannot be met with only one degree program," stated Dr. Arthur Keiser, Chancellor. By giving students the freedom to combine subjects into a single program, the Bachelor of Science degree in Interdisciplinary Studies allows students to design the course of study that meets their personal academic objectives and furthers their professional growth and development.

Interdisciplinary Studies allows students to gain skills and the knowledge necessary for not one, but two career fields increasing their marketability. This program is ideal for students who have started towards a number of degrees, earning a large number of credits, but never completing those programs. Students have the ability to choose two majors and select courses for open electives. Some of the bachelor degrees for combination include Accounting, Business, Criminal Justice, Health Science, Health Services Administration, Homeland Security, Information Technology, Legal Studies and Management Information Systems.

Keiser University is Florida's leading statewide provider of career-focused, post-secondary education and is regionally accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Keiser University serves approximately 16,500 students seeking associate, bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees in over 50 high demand degree programs at its 13 campuses and through its online and Graduate School divisions. The Graduate School opened in 2006 and offers the MBA among a variety of master's degrees in education, physician assistant and criminal justice. Keiser University's educational reach extends globally through its international programs including the Latin Division and cooperative agreements in China and the Eastern European nation of Moldova.

According to a Community College Week analysis of U. S. Department of Education data released June 16, 2008, Keiser University was named the nationwide leader in production of Associate of Science graduates in Health Professions and Related Sciences for the third straight year (2006-2008).
