Keiser University Professor Scott Carter Shares Chances of Winning This Week's Powerball, What One Could Buy

West Palm Beach, Florida – January 3, 2018 While running the statistics for Wednesday night's Powerball drawing, Keiser University math professor Scott Carter shared that after overcoming odds of 1 in 292,201,338, one lucky Powerball winner could:

- Enjoy an estimated average yearly installment payment of 10,450,000 for 30 years
- Avoid paying a state income tax, as Florida does not have one
- Revel in the opportunity to purchase items such as these with the amount of approximately 196 million that they'd pocket after taxes if they'd chosen the lump sum:
- Purchase at least 55 Ocean Ridge mini-mansions for family and friends like the 3.43 million dollars one which is currently on the market
- You could purchase more than half of the private islands for sale in Florida <https://www.privateislandsonline.com/region/florida>
- You could purchase all 10 of the most expensive vehicles in the world for yourself and 5 friends <http://www.thedrive.com/new-cars/8382/top-10-most-expensive-cars-in-the-world-in-2017>

- You could take 275 of your closest friends on an all-expenses paid cruise around the world in the best cabins available on the longest cruise available in 2018 and 2019
