To Whom It May Concern,

Keiser University is an important institution in our community for many reasons. Our non-profit youth development organization has enjoyed a five-year relationship with Keiser and they are always there to assist us when we ask for help.

We have worked closely with their staff and the College of Golf. They have hosted our students in their golf simulators and practice facilities, provided us with office space and hosted twenty-four The First Tee high school students from across the country at their West Palm Beach campus for one of our most important national academies. We are now working together to offer our program's Assistant Coach Training to their college students.

Keiser University's degree in Golf Management prepares students for a variety of positions in the golf industry. With this program, students are prepared to provide golf instruction, manage golf course operations, ensure appropriate maintenance of golf facilities and equipment, as well as integrate the play of golf into the broader hospitality and recreation domain. Through our relationship with the University, the students assist our organization by applying these skills and giving back their time by volunteering. Over the years, some of their students have continued volunteering even after graduation.

The quality of the Keiser University students' professionalism, organizational skills, time management skills, and productivity have also played a role in becoming Coaches for our Chapter. The wide-range of background in the history, rules and traditions of golf give the students a great building block to ensure they will be the best Coaches for our students.

We are delighted that Keiser University has given the opportunity to their students to learn about and then help us teach our Life Skills curriculum to children, including those with special needs, and Veterans.

Our organization looks forward to many more years of our tremendous partnership and relationship with Keiser University, their staff and their talented students.

Yours truly,

Carl Mistretta
Executive Director
