To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to share the incredible impact that Keiser University has had on the mission of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, which is to find a cure for CF and give everyone with the disease the long, healthy lives they deserve.

For more than two decades, Keiser University has been a supporter of the Foundation's efforts, raising hundreds of thousands of dollars to support our lifesaving work. They have done this through a unique mix of fundraising campaigns, which were conducted by students, staff and faculty on Keiser campuses around the state for various special events, including Great Strides walks and the JEB BUSH Florida Classic. This has led to an amazing friendship between Keiser University and the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

In addition, several key members of the Keiser University administration have held – or continue to hold – leadership positions with the CF Foundation's South Florida Office, both on our local advisory board and on the honorary committee for a major event.

We are extremely grateful to everyone at Keiser University for their unparalleled dedication to our mission and appreciate their support and generosity more than words can adequately express.

Please let me know if there is any other information you need.

Warmest regards,

Christina Landshut
Executive Director
