Re: Keiser University

To Whom It May Concern,

It is my privilege to compose this letter of support for Keiser University.

The Alliance for Eating Disorders Awareness, founded in October 2000, is a national not-for-profit 501(c)(3) organization headquartered in West Palm Beach, FL.

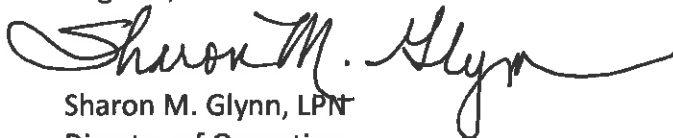

We have been involved with Keiser University for many years. We have worked with Keiser in several different capacities. We have had students volunteer here as part of community service requirements, we have been invited by several different departments to present to students on the topic of eating disorders, and we have participated in wellness fairs and various health programs.

All of our experiences with Keiser University staff and students have been positive. As a result of our relationship, we have been able to educate and raise awareness for eating disorders among their collegiate community. Nationally, 23 individuals die, as a direct result of their eating disorder, each day; it is encouraging for us to have Keiser University as a community partner for engagement. They assist in our efforts to serve the 30 million Americans that will struggle with an eating disorder during their lifetime.

As a side note, we have had recent conversations with staff that, hopefully, will expand our footprint at Keiser University.
