

To Whom It May Concern:

I am a member of the Keiser University Advisory Board for Health Science and Health Service Administration. Keiser University is important to the community as it prepares students to work in various health fields that will support the health of the population. I am honored to provide guidance regarding the curriculum and some of the best practices within the health field.

The clinical research field is very specialized, however graduates within the health science/health service administration fields are best suited to work in the clinical research industry. I am happy to continue to collaborate with the faculty at Keiser University in preparing students for a fulfilling career in the health field.
