To Whom It May Concern,

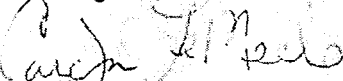

Keiser University is important to our community due to the standard of excellence they require from their students. The team at Keiser teaches their students the importance of attitude, professionalism, and most of all great healthcare. I have been on both sides of the Keiser team; I am a graduate of the RN program and I am an employer of many of their graduate Medical Assistants.

As a student at Keiser I was held to the highest expectations which I respected. The professors at Keiser always led by example by showing us how to be respectful, professional, and dress professionally. Keiser has their students help in different parts of the communities such as the Senior Expo and LPGA events. This is helpful to both the elderly and the students to learn medical socialization skills.

The graduates we have hired are top notch, very well trained, and very professional. They come out knowing all the basics and are easily groomed into a high functioning Medical Assistant. I truly enjoy having the well-mannered graduates in our clinics.

I personally have worked with Island Doctors for over 20 years. We currently have over 50 offices throughout the state of Florida. I have hired many Medical Assistants in the last 20 years and by far the Keiser graduates are the best trained. I would like to continue our relationship and keep the great students coming as we have more positions to fill.

Best regards,
