To Whom it May Concern,

Junior Achievement is proud of our partnership with Keiser University, Tampa Campus. Since 2017 Keiser

University volunteers and Junior Achievement have partnered to bring JA Economic Education programs to High School students in Hillsborough County. This partnership has impacted students in a positive way, teaching them the value of understanding and owning their economic success.

Keiser University volunteers and the Student Services Department from the Tampa Campus have reached nearly 1,260 High School students in some of the area's most at risk schools. The department representatives are great role models for the students in Hillsborough County offering not only a great JA learning experience but also showing students the benefit of continuing education.

The partnership with Keiser University, Tampa Campus has been a great benefit for Junior Achievement and the schools we serve. The positive role models that these volunteers present help our youth see what the future holds. We look forward to a continuing the collaboration with the Tampa Campus of Keiser University.

Sincerely,
