To Whom It May Concern,

For several years LAI Construction Management has worked with Keiser University to bring information and business strategies of our company to the classroom at Keiser. LAI strongly believes that to bring students into the local workforce such as the construction industry, sharing information of real-life business activities and solutions is key in the educational format and we are proud to help Keiser bring this valuable aspect of business to their students.

Keiser University has been a key leadership participant in many community events, from facilitating board retreats for the local Chamber of Commerce to participation in Leadership programs in the County. This community involvement is indicative of Keiser's commitment to the community and the businesses that they partner with.

LAI values our participation with Keiser University to continue to develop business leaders and encourage local students to join the local workforce.
